The Blindtex Classic Collection signifies a groundbreaking leap in sustainable textiles. This collection presents an array of fabrics and materials that are meticulously crafted using revolutionary bio-based sources, highlighting a departure from conventional petrochemical-derived textiles.

It's important to emphasize that the Classic fabric's ability to combat viruses lasts over time and remains strong even after washing or exposure to weather. This is because its antiviral power comes from the fibers it's made of, not just a surface coating. This means that, like its germ-fighting properties, the silver ions in the fabric also work against viruses, getting rid of them more quickly than on regular surfaces or untreated fabrics. Plus, Classic fabric is also flame-resistant (M1 flame retardant), making it a smart choice to effectively protect your spaces.

Blindtex's Meditex fabric stands as a remarkable innovation in textile technology, offering a blend of exceptional properties that ensure safety and hygiene. This fabric boasts a dual-purpose advantage, being both fire retardant and antibacterial.

Primarily, its fire retardant nature equips it with the ability to resist and slow down the spread of flames, enhancing overall safety.
Furthermore, Meditex fabric incorporates antibacterial properties, which actively inhibit the growth and proliferation of harmful microorganisms. This quality not only promotes a cleaner environment but also provides health benefits by reducing the potential for bacterial transmission.

Blindtex's Meditex fabric, therefore, offers a holistic solution for spaces that require both enhanced safety against fire incidents and a proactive approach to maintaining hygiene.

LAB REPORTS

Fire Retardant Lab Report

Antibacterial Lab Report

Disposable medical cubicle curtains are an indispensable component of healthcare facilities, ensuring patient privacy and infection control.

One of the standout features of Blindtex's curtains is their fire-retardant properties, tested to UK standards BS 5867-2:2008 type C, a crucial element in healthcare settings where safety is paramount.

Blindtex's curtains are designed to combat bacterial growth, reducing the potential for healthcare-associated infections (HAIs), with internationally recognised test standards ISO 20743.

Wherever bacteria, mould, mildew and fungi compromise product performance, Ultra-Fresh® will take control. Ultra-Fresh antimicrobial treatments inhibit the growth of bacteria and fungi responsible for creating unpleasant smells and staining in textile and plastic products. By controlling unwanted microbes, Ultra-Fresh antimicrobials help to keep products fresh, clean and odor-free.

Furthermore, Blindtex offers these curtains in a variety of eight colors, allowing healthcare facilities to maintain a pleasant and comforting atmosphere while adhering to their specific design preferences and infection control protocols.
